Nemat International

Ready to leave everyone wondering why you smell so good? These perfume oils are fragrant without overpowering. And it's no wonder they strike that perfect note, because the Attarwala family of Nemat International Perfume Oils has been creating oils from flower, plant, and wood extracts using traditional Indian techniques for over 160 years.

Perfect Matcha Chocolate Bar

Tcho Chocolate

It's hard to know where to start when talking about this chocolate. We could tell you how well balanced this bar is. How beautifully the bitter of the matcha, the creaminess of the white chocolate, and the sweet-tart strawberry comes together for a complex and satisfying treat. Or we could talk about how it's organic, fair-trade, and 100% plant based. Then again, TCHO sourcing is top of the list to mention too. They go beyond fair-trade, paying premium pricing and working directly with farmers to make sure they have the equipment they need. The company builds infrastructure that is necessary at the original source of the cacao. And they provide sensory training and work with farmers to develop a shared language to describe the flavors of the cacao. If you've read this far, do you need any more reasons to try this awesome chocolate bar?

CHEESE OF THE WEEK

Cambozola

This is a great choice for any blue cheese lover or newcomer. Its inner paste is speckled with bold flecks of blue mold, giving it a strong, nutty flavor with a luscious texture and salty nip. The gray-mold rind isn't for show, either. It's edible, mild, and delicious.

Pair with red wine or a flavorful beer.
