Flushable Bamboo Wipes

Caboo

Every year, forest ecosystems are ravaged to produce the amount of toilet paper needed in the US alone. 31.1 million trees, not including wildlife, flora, fungi, and other life, churn into paper, polluting water and air in the process. Caboo seeks an alternative, seeing bamboo as the future. Gentle, hypoallergenic, and flushable, their wipes clean without a hefty cost to the environment.

Frankincense & Myrrh Bar Soap

Zum

Zum's Frankincense and Myrrh Goat's Milk Soap Bar infuses a medley of woody frankincense and spicy myrrh essential oils. The two rich scents mingle with goat's milk, softening and cleansing skin while leaving you smelling divine.

Functional Chocolates

The Functional Chocolate Company

Seeing his childrens' health struggles--anxiety, PMS, debilitating stress--led The Functional Chocolate Company co-creator, Chris Peruzzi, to develop a holistic treatment that was tasty, too. Chocolate was the answer. Each bar blends botanicals and cocoa to make a superfood snack that helps soothe different daily troubles.

Chickpea Tortillas

Siete

Veronica Garza once thought her autoimmune conditions would ruin her life. Inflammation and allergies made finding delicious foods difficult, but she and her family didn't give up. Together, they developed tortillas, like Chickpea Flour, that avoid several common allergens without sacrificing flavor.

CHEESE OF THE WEEK

Central Coast Creamery Faultline

Winner of "Best of California" cow's milk cheese at the 2023 California State Cheese Competition, this new production from Central Coast Creamery is a major hit. Faultline uses Alpine cultures to give the sharp flavor a fruity, sweet tinge. Fermentation brings crinkly crystals to the creamy paste.
